A SHORT BIOGRAPHY

I work as Principal Lecturer and Research Group Leader (AADI) at Turku University of Applied Sciences (Finland). I also hold a position of Adjunct Professor at University of Tampere & University of Vaasa. I received my Ph.D. degree in Knowledge Management in 2007 from Tampere University of Technology. I've long-term research experience dealing with knowledge and innovation management and digitalization issues in different organizational contexts. I've published over 150 articles in these fields. I've managed or been involved in many international and national research projects with the total budget over 11 million euros. The annual budget of AADI research group is around 1 000 000 euros. In addition, I've guided several thesis projects, including doctoral theses. I'm also a reviewer for many scientific academic journals and committee member of international conferences.
